Metro Management Council Announces Director Appointment

The Metro Management Council has selected Scott McMahon to serve as the Director of Metro Communications Agency 9-1-1.

McMahon will be responsible for managing the operations of Metro Communications Agency 9-1-1, a consolidated public safety communications center responsible for the dispatch of all emergency services within the City of Sioux Falls and Minnehaha County.

A native of Big Stone City, SD, McMahon received a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Mount Marty College, a master's degree in criminal justice from American Military University, and is a graduate of the FBI National Academy. For the past 25 years McMahon has served in various leadership roles within the Watertown, SD Police Department including Assistant Police Chief. Most recently, McMahon served as Captain of Support Services which included management of the department's 911 communications center covering Watertown and a six-county area of northeast South Dakota.

"McMahon brings a wealth of knowledge, training, and experience to this position," said Paul TenHaken, Mayor of Sioux Falls. "The Metro Management Council looks forward to working with Scott and his team in their vital role in our community."

"I look forward to working with all our collaborative partners locally and state-wide to ensure quality emergency response services," said McMahon. "I am excited about the opportunity to serve and lead the organization."

McMahon starts his role June 3, 2019, and will report directly to the Metro Management Council which includes the Mayor of Sioux Falls, and members of the Sioux Falls City Council and Minnehaha County Commission.
